PROMINENT 'T'ON MERCHANT MARRIES

Henry Dunstan Coward and Miss Lynna Galloway a Charming Young Lady of St. Charles

SURPRISE THEIR MANY FRIENDS

What came as a surprise to the people of this community was the marriage of H. D. Coward, of this city, and Miss Lynna Galloway, of St. Charles. The wedding took place at Madisonville Wednesday morning at 5 o'clock at the residence of Ben Plain, who's wife is a sister to the bride. The ceremony was performed by Rev. D. T. Stanley the Christian minister, of this place, and took place in the presence of the family and a few friends. As soon as the impressive ceremony was over the happy pair entered a closed carriage and were conveyed to the depot where they took the early morning train for Chicago. The bridal pair will visit several cities in the East before returning to Earlington where they will be at home to friends after December 10th. Miss Lynna Galloway was one of the best known and most generally liked young ladies in the St. Charles neighborhood and is the youngest daughter of Mrs. W. E. Raimer, of this place, she is attractive and accomplished and numbers her friends by her acquaintances. Mr. Coward is a member of the Barnes Mercantile Co. manager, secretary and treasurer of the Earlington store. He has made this store what it is, one of the most up-to-date department stores in this section of the country and is a very successful business man. The Semi-weekly Bee joins other friends in hearty congratulations.

Shriners Banquet a Success

The banquet given by the Shriners Wednesday night at the Masonic Temple was a complete success. There were a great many visiting Shriners and a very interesting program was carried out. Mr. James R. Rash did more than justice to his office as toastmaster and called forth several witty, clever and helpful toasts. Delightful music was furnished by Blackmore's orchestra, and another attractive feature of the evening was a recitation by Master Frank Brown Jr. but the most enjoyable part of the program were the delicious, palatable courses prepared by a committee who knew its business. The evening was closed by singing the Doxology.

LAID TO REST

Under a Mound of Flowers in The Earlington Cemetery

All that was mortal of Mrs. Edgar Trahern was laid to rest yesterday in the Earlington cemetery surrounded by her relatives and a large concourse of loving friends. The handsome white casket was literally covered with beautiful flowers in several appropriate designs. The funeral services were held at the residence of her mother Mrs. Stokes at 2 o'clock. Rev. Brandon of the Methodist church her pastor conducted the service. Mrs. John Long her life long friend sang "Sometime Somewhere" in a sweetly solemn manner that reached the hearts of all present. Jas. R. Rash offered a touching prayer after which the quire sang "Nearer My God to Thee". The white casket was then placed in the white hearse by pall bearers Frank D. Rasb, H. L. Browning, Dr. A. O. Sisk, Baker Fugate, Walton Perry, Elsworth Evans, Brick Southworth and John Long. They were preceded from the residence by honary pall bearers Mrs. Walter Daves, Mrs. W. L. Morrison, Misses Annie Ashby, Pansy Rule, Katie Murrell and Elizabeth Kemp, carrying flowers. A long line of carriages and other vehicles followed the hearse to the cemetery and there in the silent tomb was placed all that was mortal of "Miss Werdna" her bright spirit had already winged its way through the ether blue to make its eternal abode in that celestial home on high.

Davis, of Earlington, was elected president, Dr. A. F. Finley, of Cardondale, vice president, Dr. A. G. Sisk of Earlington, secretary, Dr. J. D. Sory, of Madisonville, the retiring president, was elected delegate to State Association.

LIFE

Life is too brief
Between the budding and the falling leaf,
Between the seed-time and the golden sheaf,
For hate and spite.
We have no time for malice and for greed;
Therefore, with love make beautiful the deed;
Fast speeds the night.

Life is too swift
Between the blossom and the white snow's drift,
Between the silence and the lark's uplift,
For bitter words.
In kindness and in gentleness our speech,
Must carry messages of hope, and reach
The Sweetest chords.

Life is too great
Between the infant's and the man's estate,
Between the clashing of earth's strife and fate,
For petty things.
Lo! we shall yet who creep with cumbered feet,
Walk glorious over heaven's golden street,
Or soar on wings?

—Margaret E. Langster.

The house was decorated, in quantities of pink bridesmaid roses, southern smilax and Richmond roses.

Mrs. Dulin with her guest of honor received in the delicate blue French parlor, which was artistically decorated in southern smilax and bridesmaid roses, while the daintiest strands of southern smilax formed a floral portiere of greenery, between the reception hall and parlor, being caught back with bows of white tulle and roses.

The color scheme, of the dining room, was beautifully carried out in red and green in the ices, cakes and mints, as well as the floral decorations.

Boquets of Richmond roses, ferns and smilax were prettily arranged on the mantle shelf, buffet and serving table, while a flat centerpiece of

EDUCATION IN KENTUCKY (J. LEO SALMON)

Central University the Ideal Kentucky College

When we glance back over the past of our state and see the long line of statesmen and warriors, and her sons, we are thrilled with pride that we may call ourselves "Kentuckians." Leader after leader, we follow them down until finally the chain is broken.

For many years Kentucky has produced very very few famous men.

Within our memory a few bright links have been forged but they are separated from the chain by intervals of years. At present there seems to be a mighty intellectual awakening which promised to bring us back to our former standing in the federation.

Shall we ever send forth another Lincoln? Only the process of time can tell.

Kentucky is naturally a leader. Her first known inhabitants, the mound Builders, were farther advanced in civilization than any of the other Indian tribes. This people had long been extinct even at the time of the discovery of America. When the hardy Scotch-Irish pioneers crossed the mountains from Virginia, they found our state uninhabited. The various Indian tribes had so much reverence for the land that they used it only as a fighting and hunting ground. It is for this reason that Kentucky, the Dark and Bloody Ground, received her name. Compelled to fight alike with wild man and wild beast, only the strongest of our ancestors lived. As in the mythological fight of the race of giants, who sprang up to assist Cadmus in the founding of Thebes, it was a case of the survival of the fittest; only the very essence of strength was left.

With such an ancestry Kentucky is capable of producing national leaders. Mental and physical strength most often go hand in hand. Flowers will not thrive in poor soil; minds will not broaden in poor bodies.

Our thoroughbred horses are not decreasing in value; our women are not decreasing in beauty; our men should not be decreasing in mental capacity.

Leaders do not arise fully equipped for their work. They must be systematically prepared. This is the business of our colleges. One may be born with qualities of a leader, but, if these are not trained, they will lie dormant, and finally die with the man. Thomas Gray has aptly expressed this thought:

Perhaps in this neglected spot is laid
Some heart once pregnant with celestial fire;

Hands, that the rod of empire might have swayed,

Or waked to ecstasy the living lyre

But knowledge to their eyes her ample page

Rich with the spoils of time did ne'er unroll;

Chill penury repressed their noble rage,

And froze the genial current of the soul.

And again:

Some village Hampden, that with dauntless breast

The little tyrant of his fields withstood;

Some mute inglorious Milton here may rest,

Some Cromwell guiltless of his country's blood.

For many years Kentucky has ranked very low in the matter of education. Some writers say that there are only eight states between her and the most ignorant of all Uncle Sam's children. However this may be, it is certain that such can not long be said. The whole land is awakening.

Possibly more progress has been made in the last ten years than ever before in the history of the state.

Kentucky was slower than most of the other states to feel the need of improvement, but now that she has felt it, her strides are rapidly bringing her to the front. It is no longer necessary for our youth to seek training elsewhere. With the exception of the largest universities, we have institutions equal to any in the nation.

Our young men may be educated at home, under Kentucky influences and ideals. The value of this cannot be overestimated. It will keep alive the love of our own state; it will foster the desire for its advancement; and it will promote the feelings of confidence in the ability of its people when one is transferred from his own state for an education, these feelings will either die out entirely or be given to the land which gave him his mental training. Perhaps there are some who may think this is not true. If so, I will say that the years of a boy's education are the most formative ones of his whole life.

Danville is an ideal place for the situation of a college. Very near the geographical center of the state, within the "Blue Grass" region, it is easily accessible from all quarters.

The town has an elevation of about one thousand feet above the level of the sea, and the condition of the surrounding country affords perfect drainage. It is therefore, one of the healthiest spots in all Kentucky.

It is the seat of many important educational institutions both for men and for women. Consequently, its inhabitants are intelligent, and the moral tone is very high. Without many of the temptations which beset the average college student, such as saloons with their accompanying gambling dens, it offers wide possibilities to a young man seeking the best in modern university training.

Picturesquely placed on an extensive and beautiful "Blue Grass" campus, are the seven buildings of the University, up to date in every respect. These are the Preparatory Building, Sayre Library, Boyle Huming, Young Hall (the science building), Breckinridge Hall (the dormitory), and the College Home. A new and better equipped gymnasium will soon be in the course of construction. Of the buildings mentioned above the College Home is the most interesting and Young Hall, the most imposing. The College Home was completed in the year eighteen hundred and nineteen, when Centre College was first chartered. It is a large brick structure surrounded by beautiful old trees.

EDUCATION IN KENTUCKY

One has but to glance at the ivory covered walls, the wide, many paned windows, and the lofty, colonial veranda to know that the building will soon see its century. This effect is also carried out within. The spacious halls, the large rooms, the perfect simplicity in appearance and detail the very atmosphere of the place proclaims the fact. We can picture our grandfathers sitting around a cheerful wood fire burning in the wide open fireplaces, and discussing the questions which were to lead up to Civil war, or the mystery of the newly invented electric telegraph. To one acquainted with the history of the College Home, the thoughts and feelings of the great leaders, who have been prepared for their work within its walls, seem to linger in the corners ready to declare themselves to a close and sympathetic observer.

Perhaps the many evidences of students pastimes may help to produce this impression. Who knows what one cut the deep notch in the wood of the mantel? Might not those initials J. C. B., which we see carved in the stone sill of a window, have been made by the illustrious John C. Breckinridge while he was attending Center College?

The science building is the most modern and thoroughly equipped building of the University. It was completed in the year nineteen hundred and eight. Composed of Bedford stone, and puff pressed brick, it presents a picturesque and pleasing appearance against the blue tint of the surrounding grass. The interior is finished with white pressed brick, the wood finish being of yellow pine.

The whole building is devoted to work in the departments of Chemistry, Physics, and Mathematics, and is admirably fitted for this purpose. It is not to be excelled in the completeness of its arrangements by any building in the country. The faculty of the College is composed of the most learned men to be found.

Thoroughly interested in their work, they take a kind and sympathetic concern in the education of the youth intrusted to their care. They do not hesitate to give special instruction to a backward but earnest student. On the other hand, students are not encouraged in idleness. If, through inattention and carelessness, a pupil fall below grade for four consecutive weeks, he is dropped from the class. Good work is expected of every student who enters Central. If he enters upon a course of revelry and idleness, he will not long remain in the college. The perfect congeniality of instructors, pupils, and surroundings is clearly proven by the

A Premeditated Act

Some new tenants occupied the flat below the Kings. The occupants of the Le Rex apartments were noted for their sociability. But to all events and purposes the Swifts were exclusive and did not seek other company than their own.

"I don't understand it at all," confessed Mrs. Jennings as she seated herself on Mrs. King's back porch. "The poor thing is so abused. How her husband talks to her. He doesn't talk, he yells, shouts, screams and shrieks at her."

"Don't she answer him?" questioned sympathetic Mrs. King. "The angrier he gets, the more she laughs and even when I've seen her go out he continues to scold and gibber jabber to himself. Once I heard that man fairly exult because she was suffering with a sore throat."

"Probably for the first time in the twenty years of your existence you'll know enough to keep quiet," he said. "Something mysterious about them. Never a soul calls on them."

"Oh the butcher's boy informed me they just moved from another town. I called there one afternoon and though no one answered the door bell I could distinctly hear peals of laughter. Listen to that now."

"Can't you ever stop, you mummy skul," came the words from a distance in an exasperated tone. "I'll throw something at you if you utter another syllable."

"Heavens, if worst comes to worst and any attempt is made to harm that exquisite child-like wife, I'll hasten to her rescue."

Things seemed to go from bad to worse in apartment No. 2. Strange, however, when the young couple left the flat together, they could easily have been mistaken for a congenial, happy, care free pair.

The neighbors felt diffident about calling on Mrs. Swift until Mrs. Jennings appointed herself as committee of one to make a formal visit. As she approached the door a masculine voice could be heard saying:

"I'll not put up with this any longer. You think that you can swear at me until eternity, but you're mistaken. Some day I'll wring your neck."

Mrs. Jennings flew back to her flat and telephoned the police that a man was threatening his wife and her life was endangered, then waited in breathless horror.

Mr. Swift was amazed to see a big burly policeman when he opened the door, razor in hand.

"No, we don't keep a dog," he said impatiently.

"But you keep a wife, where is she?" said the policeman, looking at the razor meaningly.

"My wife is downtown shopping."

"A likely story. Didn't you threaten to wring her neck a few moments ago?" "Maybe you found cutting it easier."

"To wring my wife's neck?" repeated Mr. Swift in astonishment.

Just then a voice came from the dining room saying, "Go to h—, Go to h—."

"Come with me and I'll introduce you to the party whose neck I'll wring the first opportunity, regardless of all the gossiping neighbors and policeman in the world," said Mr. Swift.

When the policeman saw an ugly green parrot winking at him he uttered a few choice oaths apologized for his intrusion.

The neighbors must have been informed who the anticipated victim was, as the next day Mrs. Swift was surprised at her sudden popularity and of all the articles most admired in her home the parrot was most admired.

"Losing the Drop."

"When a man whips out a gun and gets 'the drop' on you, there's nothing else to do but throw up your hands and let him have whatever he wants."

"That's where you fool yourself," said the man from the southwest. "If a man has the nerve he can face a gun and get away with it—sometimes. I remember seeing in a border saloon an Englishman pull a gun on a Mexican whom he had caught cheating in a game of cards."

"You give me back the money you've won from me or I'll blow your head off!"

"You will?" said the Mexican, looking calmly into the muzzle of the Englishman's revolver. "Well, you won't do it just now; that gun's not loaded."

"What's that?" exclaimed the Englishman, turning the revolver toward himself to look into the chambers. And on the instant the Mexican drew a knife and planted it to the hilt in the Englishman's stomach."

Qualified for Free Trip.

"I want a pass," said a forlorn-looking individual as he entered the office of J. J. Geary, general passenger agent of the Northwestern Pacific.

"Pass?" queried Geary. "You're not entitled to a pass. You are not an employe. Sorry."

"No," answered the individual, "but here the anti-pass law says free transportation can be granted to 'necessaries caretakers of live stock, poultry and fruit.' Well, I'm going on this trip with an aunt that's a hen, there's your poultry; a girl that's a peach—there's your fruit, and a nephew that's a mule, there's your live stock."

"I think I am entitled to a pass," said the individual.

SMOKELESS OIL HEATER

Every mother should be careful that the children take their baths in a warm room. The chill of a cold room is dangerous after coming out of the hot water.

A Perfection Smokeless Oil Heater brings bathroom or bedroom to just the degree of warmth you want in five or ten minutes. All you have to do is to touch a match.

The Perfection Heater burns nine hours on one filling and is always ready for use. You can move it anywhere it is needed. There is no waste of fuel and heat warming unoccupied rooms. Just the heat you want, when and where you want it.

The Perfection is fitted with an automatic-locking flame spreader that prevents the wick being turned high enough to smoke and is easy to remove and drop back when cleaning.

Drums finished either in turquoise-blue enamel or plain steel; light and ornamental, yet strong and durable—suitable for any room in any house.

Dealers everywhere; or write to any agency of the Standard Oil Company

The man who whispers down a well
About the things he has to sell
Will never reap a crop of dollars.
Like he who climbs a tree and "hollers."

Life is one darn murder trial after another. The hide case is to the front again, and Denver steps in the limelight with a sensational trial.

The above appears as an editorial in the Paducah Sun, and from it we get this thought: All this talk and newspaper "thunder" about these sensational murder trials, suicides and lots of other things, is not fit to print. We firmly believe the press of today is largely for the murders and divorces and suicides and many other scandalous things daily taking place. They have talked about these mean things till it is no longer considered by some as anything but right to shoot a fellow if he doesn't do to suit him; go the carbolic acid route if your lover goes another; leave your wife, or she'll leave you, if perchance you don't exactly agree, or find another; that would suit better. Where did you get such an idea? From reading did you not? Then read something else.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Pals' Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful, it acts directly on the blood and mucous surface of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

Develop Individuality.

Care should be taken in the large family that each child develops an individuality, says the London Sketch. Sometimes, especially in the case of girls, it is a good idea to send children to different schools. This seems an extreme measure, but is worth the consideration of the parents who find that their brood are dropping into slovenly habits of speech, into codes and rules of their own, and a general contempt and disregard of the rest of the world.

SCHOOL NOTES

for the same. This picture will serve as a gentle reminder of Mr. Atkinson's hearty support of public schools, and his desire to see all the children of the community have a good education. Again we express our thanks.

The highest purpose of education is not so much to know, to think, to argue as it is to travel the right road. It is a matter of no consequence for a man to speak correctly if he does not speak the truth.

Within thine own sphere accomplish what thou canst, be active and cheerful and find happiness in pursuing the present.

Supt. Dudley has arranged with the A. W. Elson Art Exhibition Co. to give on February 7th. to Feb. 10th. 1912, an exhibition of their famous pictures. This exhibit of art will be placed in some desirable building, a small admission will be charged, the proceeds for the Graded School. Later more will be said about this.

Mrs. A. O. Sisk and Mrs. Weir of Hanson, were pleasant visitors in first grade Thursday.

Peck's Bad Boy Coming

"Peck's Bad Boy," is said to be one of the best musical farce comedy offerings of recent years. It is also credited with being presented by a company of exceptional excellence. The bright particular stars of which are Miss Josephine Palmer, the charming little comedienne, who plays the Title Role, and Al Barton German comedian, as the funny Grocerman, are the towers of strength in the fun making line. The play is full of witty dialogue, bright, clean and snappy, many humorous scenes, and high class specialty features. This sterling attraction will appear at the Masonic Theater on Tuesday evening, December 12th. Popular prices will prevail for the engagement.

Small Millions of Years Old.

A petrified prehistoric snail embedded in the heart of a large piece of blue flint stone, was discovered a few days ago by quarrymen working at Cheddar Cliffs, Wales, upon some large boulders of stone which were displaced in the landslide which occurred some years ago. The discovery is distinctly interesting to the geologists on account of the great age of the find, as, situated upon a very low strata, it must be millions of years since the snail lived.

Where the Locality Does not Count

Wherever there are people suffering from kidney and bladder ailments, from backache, rheumatism and urinary irregularities, Foley's Kidney Pills will help them. Belvidere, Ill., E. A. Celly, an ex-engineer, says: "Three years ago my kidneys became so bad that I was compelled to give up my engine and quit. There was a severe aching pain over the hips, followed by an inflammation of the bladder, and always a thick sediment. Foley's Kidney Pills made me a sound and well man. I cannot say too much in their praise." Tonic in action, quick in results. Will cure any case of kidney or bladder disorder not beyond the reach of medicine. No need to say more.

Sold by St. Bernard Mining Co. Incorporated, Drug Department.

Worse Kind of Mortgages

Than One Can Assume to Carry

It is not a disheartening thing to go through life, under the harrow of debt, struggling to get release under circumstances that give no hope of relief? Is it not unfortunate to feel that we can never lift the mortgage from the home, that in spite of all our efforts it must finally be sold over the heads of those dearer to us than life itself? But all this is nothing compared with the mortgage of vice upon the character which blights the life. Many a man has died without being able to lift the mortgage from his home, yet has been a real success, for he kept his manhood clean, his integrity unstained, and, although he felt no material wealth, he has enriched the lives of all who knew him.

The nicotine mortgage upon your vitality, the alcohol mortgage which hardens your nerve fiber, benumbs the brain cells, paralyzes the power to achieve, and makes you a slave instead of a king, are encumbrances compared with which the mere mortgage upon your home is a blessing. If you are mortgaged to the cigarette habit which demoralizes your ambition, poisons your blood, benumbs your nerves and vitiates your aim; if you have a whiskey mortgage, an immorality mortgage on your character which you have been trying for years to lift, this is infinitely worse than your chattel mortgage or real estate mortgage.

The mortgage on your home may not touch your real self. In spite of it you may be a man, respected, looked up to, admired. If your life has been clean, you may have made every acre of land in your vicinity worth more. But if your character is mortgaged to a demoralizing habit; if you are the victim of a degrading vice that holds you down, cripples your advance, this is a thousand times worse. It looses you not only your respect, but also the respect of those who know you.—Success Magazine.

Hogwallow Happenings

Washington Hocks shook himself out of a persimmon tree on Musket ridge Tuesday night.

Cricket Hicks held the lamp Sunday night while Miss Hostetter Hocks sang a solo at the Dog Hill Church. At one point her voice went so high that Cricket was compelled to stand on a chair.

Frisby Hanceck has dreamed several times here of late that he was about to drown, and as a precaution he now sleeps with his head propped up, so that he can keep it well out of the water.

Ellick Hellwanger has returned from the headwaters of Gimlet creek, from which point he floated down on a raft. He brought with him a bag of turnips and an armful of the latest almanacs. We are glad to see people take so to literature.

The postoffice was entered night before last by some unknown person, and the postmaster's sausagegrinder is missing.

Jefferson Potlocks, who has been cutting down a tree near Rye Straw for the past two weeks, completed the job today at noon.

Seeing a national victory for the Democrats next year, the Hogwallow postmaster has decided to change his politics this winter while no one is looking.

Luke Mathews is getting his affairs in shape to reform on the first of the year.

Yam Sims, who has been seeking encouragement in the pursuit of the fickle heart and hand of Miss Gondola Henstep, has found a shadow of hope, she having dropped her hankerchief from her tall mule the other day in order to allow him the privilege of picking it up.

Sim Flinders has been seen sitting on his front fence this week with wads of paper stuck in both ears. Sim is accused of stealing a hogliver from over near Thunderation, and does not wish to hear any of the passing remarks that were made about him.

Dock Hocks, our blacksmith and erstwhile dentist, is busily engaged in putting some new teeth in a crosscut saw that belongs to Isaac Hellwanger. The teeth were knocked out during a difficulty last week. To lessen the cost of the job Isaac wanted the teeth filled, but the dentist told him he would have to have some new ones put in.

One of our acquaintances who has been going under the name of Rodgers since he got into serious difficulty in the Calf Ribs community a few weeks ago, was buried at the Hog Ford graveyard yesterday. He left a will instructing that the seven dollars he left behind be buried with him, and this was done. He left a good many bad debts and they are buried along with the good ones.

The snow at bounding billows the other day is reported to have been so thick that the people could not walk without stepping in it.

Peke Ezley was the host at a delightful birthday surprise party given by himself in his honor at his home over on Musket Ridge, just after you pass the persimmon tree going in the direction of the moonshine still house. The delightful affair was very cunningly arranged by Peke, and the invited guests were completely taken by surprise when they arrived and found a party was to be given them. Everyone returned home and brought baskets of grub, which Peke took possession of and locked in the corn crib, until after the guests departed for home.

O, Lucky, Luckless You!

The paper told, the other day, About a youth up Boston way Who won a chain and watch of gold Because at twenty-one years old He'd neither smoked, nor drunk, nor swore.

Nor chewed tobacco, and what's more,

His eager lips had never strayed And met those of the blushing maid.

Poor youth, poor, blind, unknowing mole!

Down in our deepest, inmost soul We pity him: think what he's missed

By never having bravely kissed One who, relection, sought to flee, Yet loved his interidity; And yet—our hearts within us burn—Think of the joys he still may learn.

—A. M. Adams in the New York Sun.

COAL PRODUCTION

United States Leads the World in Supply

Since the production of coal is one of the chief industries of Earlington and Hopkins county and the continued employment of thousands in this section of the state depends upon the relation of the supply to the demand, the following comparison of the coal supplies of the world compiled by the United States Geological Survey should make interesting reading to subscribers.

The total coal production of the world in 1910 was approximately 1,300,000,000 short tons, of which the United States contributed about 39 per cent. This country has far outstripped all others, and in 1910, according to the United States Geological Survey, it exceeded Great Britain, which ranks second, by over 200,000,000 tons. Great Britain's production in 1910 was less than 60 per cent of that of the United States, and Germany's was less than half. The increase in both of these countries in 1910 over 1909 was comparatively small, whereas the increase in the United States was nearly equal to the entire production of France and was more than the total production of any foreign country besides Great Britain, Germany, Austria-Hungary, and France.

The United States has held first place among the coal-producing countries of the world since 1899, when it surpassed Great Britain. In the 11 years since 1899 the annual output of the United States has nearly doubled, from 253,741,193 short tons to 501,596,888 tons, whereas that of Great Britain has increased 20 per cent, from 243,506,155 short tons to 292,007,699 tons.

The following table shows the coal production of the principal countries in the world in 1910, except those for which only the 1909 figures are available.

A Severe Sickness Leaves The Kidney's Weak

After recovering from a severe spell of sickness some time ago, I was all run down and suffering from poor blood. I would have pains in my back and my hips and my kidneys bothered me all the time. I started taking Swamp-Root upon the recommendation of a friend and found it was just what I needed. My blood became all right and after taking a few bottles, I was surprised at the effect it had on my kidneys. They were entirely cured and I have much to be thankful for that your great remedy did for me.

Yours very truly

INTERESTING EVENTS IN CHICAGO NINETEENTH NATIONAL IRRIGATION CONGRESS

DECEMBER, 5 TO 9.

The object and purpose of this Congress can best be expressed in its motto, "Save the forests, store the floods, reclaim the deserts, make homes on the land," to which might be added "drain the swamp and make homes on the lands."

There are in the United States 75,000,000 acres of swamp land, non-productive, a menace to health, and a deterrent to immigration. 75,000,000 acres divided into 40-acre farms means homes for 1,875,000 families, or approximately 10,000,000 of our citizenship. This land when reclaimed will be as healthful as land that has always been dry, and will be the most productive of all lands, because it is composed of the rich soil brought down by the river, deposited and mixed with the decayed vegetation for centuries.

On account of the diversified ownership and state complications it would seem that the United States Government is logically the authority to redeem these lands along the lines pursued in the reclamation of the arid lands of the West.

The results of irrigation of the arid lands of the Far West, and the possibilities of the drainage of the swamp lands of the Great South, and elsewhere, will be given particular attention in an elaborate program that has been planned for this congress. Delegates from all parts of the country, as well as foreign representatives, have been invited, and a goodly attendance is expected.

COLORED COLUMN.

REV. J. R. EVANS, EDITOR

The weather was ideal, attendance good, homes pleasant and comfortable, the people of Earlington gave a good crowd at session, and the program was excellent.

The C. M. E. Church of this city is installing electric lights which will add much to the beauty of the church, and comfort to the worshippers.

Prof. W. G. Hynes of Nashville, the famous National Exhibitor, who had an engagement with the Mt. His lecture on the subject, "The Negro Looking Up," brought before some of leading features in Negro progress.

There were 326 persons who visited the entertainment.

Ike Davidson, the upholsterer of Hopkinsville is in the city doing some neat jobs, he will be glad to serve you while in the city.

The revival at the A. M. E. Z. Church has closed.

Mrs. Lillie Cavanaugh and son Dorris are improving slowly.

Mrs. Mattie Rose the mother of Ed Murry is visiting friends and relatives in Clarksville.

The quicker a cold is gotten rid of the less the danger from pneumonia and other serious diseases. Mr. B. W. L.
